SENATOR JONES BLAMES REFUSAL FOR SHIPS FOR FOREIGN ACCOUNT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
TACOMA, July 9.—Shipyard on the west coast, lost ship contracts worth hundreds of millions of dollars because of the policy of the government in refusing to sanction construction of ships for foreign account, said Senator Wesley L. Jones, who arrived in Tacoma today for an address before the Commercial Club.
"Now the Shipping Board has promised to permit all contracts to be signed," the Senator said. "It is the greatest impetus to the shipbuilding industry."

ATAMEDA, July 9.—Resolutions urging Senator Johnson and Congressman Elston to use their influence to have the Emergency Fleet Corporation pay to this city taxes due on the Liberty shipyard property, abandoned before completion, have been adopted by the city Council. Attention is called to the fact that Alameda furnished police and traffic assistance and went to expense to provide special schools for employees at the yard. There is due $8000 in taxes for last year. The fleet corporation, while it controls the land, has announced there will be no more taxes paid on it. It is believed the $8000 will be paid.

CARRANZA'S PLAN IS DIPLOMATIC NOVELTY. IGNORING STATE DEPARTMENT TO DEAL DIRECTLY WITH AMERICAN CLAIMANTS. (BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.) WASHINGTON, July 9.—First Chief Carranza, having failed to reach an agreement with the United States over the question of deciding how American claims against Mexico should be considered, has resorted to a new method of procedure. He has decided to ignore the State Department's objections, to his exclusive Mexican claims commission, and to deal directly with the views of their own government. As an initial move in this plan, officials here note that Carranza already has established a financial agency at 120 Broadway and has begun to advertise his willingness to settle claims against the United States on a basis of "cash for claims."

TREATY FIGHT STARTS TODAY. (Continued from First Page.) Next, about the middle of next month. The opponents of the President are ready for the fray. They plead guilty to the President's charge that "they have neglected too much of the interests that were near them and they have not listened to the voice of their neighbors." They retort that the President has thought too little of the interests that he, as an American, ought to consider near him and listened too eagerly to the voices of the neighbors he found in Europe. The Senate will listen to the statement of his case by the President and receive and refer the treaty to the Foreign Relations Committee. The documents will be printed at once for public distribution. The committee will meet next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Members of the committee said today they would avail themselves of the opportunity of questioning the President on details of the treaty. Mr. Wilson having stated he is willing to appear before the committee and answer inquiries at any time, the committee will be in a position to ask for the diplomatic correspondence leading up to the treaty, and since most of the Versailles negotiations were conducted orally, some Senators believe the Senate course will be to question the principal delegates. Opposing this view, however, is the feeling of some committee members that it would be too wide a departure from precedent to invite a President before any committee of Congress. It has been pointed out that the chief executive constitutes in himself a co-ordinate branch of the government, and as such never has dealt directly with such a subordinate body as a Senate committee. Should the President go before the committee there are indications the sessions would be open. Some members are known to be firmly opposed to any action in Senate consideration of the treaty, and in this stand they expect the co-operation of the President. To have definitely established the fact that there is no necessary connection between executive and legislative branches and commercial transactions is in itself an important development.

The People and Their Troubles

PROBLEMS OF THE WORKING GIRL

JANE DIXON

The Way of a Man With His Pet Derby, Studied by Observant Hat Check Girl, Raises Doubts as to "Stronger Sex" Idea

Wearers of Stock Socks of Diners Who Leave Head Covering in Her Care.

DON'T BLAME US, BLAME CUSTOM," SHE PLEADS.

The New York Hat Check Girl.

(Copyright, 1919 by the Evening Telegram, New York Herald Company.)

"I wonder how often I've bought this hat, anyhow?"

Heaven's heard that remark many times. Not more than a million.

I believe the first fellow made it as he was leaving the restaurant in Noah's Ark. Not a single man has muffed it since.

Maybe it isn't the sweetest thing in the world to pay parking space for your sky-scraper every time you drop in to inhale a sandwich and a glass of whatever you use to wash it down.

But I want to ask you fair, is the girl who handles the checks to blame because custom says it is? Is it polite for you to go dragging your Kelly into public dining-rooms with you?

You'd think, from the way some men act, we girls had a special grudge against hats.

You'd think we actually enjoyed taking hats away from their owners and watching over them while said owners are inside feeding and frolicking and having all the fun we'd like to have, if we didn't have to work for our daily elbow.

It hands me a laugh if I see the way some fazy joyrads will sneak past the hat girl and try to cheat her out of a thin dime.

He couldn't be any happier if he had staked Wall street for the price of a white marble palace in Newport.

Honestly, there are times when I haven't the heart to call his turn. It seems like cruelty to animals, just when he imagines he has gotten away good.

But orders are orders, and ours happens to be "Let no guilty check dodger escape."

"THE HAT-CHECK EVIL."

So the best I can do is to trail after Mr. Fox, nudge him gently but firmly on the elbow and remind him how Miss Mary Casey, leading lid ladler at the Bankers' Club, netted enough nickels in the last three years to retire into private life and live honestly forever after.

This seems to be one of the stories feature writers can always sell, no matter how crowded the papers are for war space, or how many bombs exploded on prominent doorsteps the previous evening.

For serving him a light lunch, and then he will come out and go through the city.

Then he will come out and go through the city.

Then he will come out and go through the city.

Then he will come out and go through the city.

Then he will come out and go through the city.

Then he will come out and go through the city.

Then he will come out and go through the city.

Then he will come out and go through the city.

Then he will come out and go through the city.

Then he will come out and go through the city.

Then he will come out and go through the city.

chirpe Gerlie. The way she says it you know she'd trust you with her coat the same as she would a pick-pocket without a go.

I'll lay you an even bet no girl who is out in the open earning her cakes and coffee comes in for more kidding than the hat-check girl.

You see, the public figures it does not need us. It simply tolerates us. We don't earn our nickels and dimes and quarters. They are given to us "free for nothing."

And any time you have anything given to you in this merry old world you can stake the last penny out of the baby's bank you are going to have its value taken out of you in one way or another.

Now, the fact is, hat checking is a regular business. The stands are owned and operated by companies or corporations the same as Childs restaurants or Huyler's candy shops or Woolworth's five and ten-cent stores.

When you pry yourself loose from a piece of change you do not give it to me. You pay it to the company. I get my wages once a week the same as the girl in the box factory.

Because you hand the hat girl a quarter when you don't believe she deserves any part of it, it is no reason why you should chuck her under the chin or address her as "Say, kid."

Another bad feature is we get the men as they are going out—the tag end of the evening. As a rule, they are either good and snappy by this time or they are all over the place. Depends on what sort of an evening they have spent. With some of them it depends on how much they have spent.

It takes a whole pile of sand for a girl who has been on the hop from maybe 2 in the afternoon until the next morning to turn down a perfectly good bid to be called home in a Rolle Royce, even if the bidder is a tush gentleman, whose tongue gets tangled up in the "gr" and whose legs are far from fatherly.

There is one thing about the job—the hat-check girl gets to know men.

If she has been parking top awnings for some time and then goes out and picks a bloomer for her own life partner, she is sure some stupid, she deserves to check misbehaved Panamas in Patagonia for ninety-nine years.

Check your hat, please, mister.

County Counsel Rule Adverse to Charitable Bodies.

Supervisors Hear Appeals to Reduce Assessments.

Hill Says Must Tax 'Em Like All Other Property.

Charitable institutions which are doing worthy work are appealing to the Board of Supervisors, sitting as a board of equalization, to either reduce their taxes to a nominal sum, or exempt them. The board is faced with an adverse opinion from County Counsel Hill, which says on this subject:

"There is nowhere in the constitution any provision that exempts from taxation the property of charitable institutions. It is a fundamental proposition of law that all exemptions are strictly construed; therefore, in view of the provision of the law that all property shall be taxed in proportion to its value, we must conclude that there is no legal basis whatever for the exemption of the property of such charitable institutions, nor for the reduction of their assessments to a nominal value. They must be taxed just the same as other taxable property within the State."

UNUSUAL CASE BEFORE COURT.

Woman's Charged with Driving Automobile While Intoxicated.

Presenting one of few cases of its kind, according to attaches of the District Attorney's office, Hazel Warren was arraigned yesterday before Justice Hinshaw on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. She was arrested by Constable W. J. Balmes of the Gardena following a collision between her automobile and one driven by Charles P. Ross.

According to the officer, her manner of driving the car caused the accident and injury to Mr. Ross. The accident occurred Tuesday night.

The defendant was released on $100 bail and the hearing was set for Tuesday.

Former Lieut.-Gov. A. J. Wallace, E. F. Clark, Councilman A. P. Fleming and G. L. Mr. Wallace made an eloquent plea for the Y.M.C.A.'s educational and religious work, and said that it should not be taxed because of the good that it is doing. The board took the matter under advisement.

Southwest Institution Needs Told in Luncheon.

Over Hundred Thousand Goal in Directors' Drive.

Many Improvements Are Made and Others Planned.

Plans for raising $125,000 to be used in maintaining the Southwest Museum of Los Angeles for the next five years, in accordance with the plans adopted by the board of trustees last May, were discussed at a luncheon yesterday afternoon at the Clark Hotel. Immediately afterward members of the board of trustees started out to raise the money.

Miss Summerall was placed in charge of the campaign.

J. S. Torrance, president of the board of trustees, read an interesting paper in which he outlined the work done by the museum and the plans of the board. Dr. Milbank Johnson, one of the directors, also made a short talk. Joseph Baumgardner has traveled extensively in the museum would serve three-fourths of a million people.

It was announced that Dr. J. H. McBride had promised to donate $1000 to the fund. Contributions should be paid to Miss Summerall.

Many improvements have been made in the museum of late. A new approach to the museum proper has recently been completed from Avenue 46 through a tunnel and by an elevator. The trustees are planning other improvements.

Among those who attended the luncheon yesterday were J. S. Torrance, president, Dr. Norman Bridge, Dr. Milbank Johnson, Mrs. Clara B. Burdette, Miss Summerall, Joseph Scott, Prof. Charles S. Thompson, Walter Raymond, Dr. Joseph A. Monk, Dr. J. H. Comstock, W. H. Golisch, John Mellon and Jules Fuesnot.

BAUMGARDNER LECTURE.

A large, distinguished and appreciative audience of Masons and their families attended a lecture on "Russia Crucified" by Prof. B. R. Baumgardner, K.C.C.H., at the Scottish Rite Cathedral last night. Prof. Baumgardner has traveled extensively in Russia, has a wide acquaintance among Russians in every walk in life, and is familiar with the conditions leading up to the present chaos and upheaval in that country. His lecture was splendidly illustrated by slides and scenes of interest, as well as by views of prominent citizens of Russia. This is the second of a series of lectures given this season by Prof. Baumgardner before he leaves for the East. He will give another lecture at the same place next Wednesday night on "The Rhine and the Army of Occupation."

Polakoff Tells Court of Her Anti-Marriage Views.

She Retorts He's Anarchist and a Bolshevik.

When Forced to Wed Him She Left, He Declares.

Free love, Bolshevism, Socialism and anarchism seem to be the ingredients in the unusual divorce suit of Clara Polakoff against Max Polakoff, on trial before Judge Jackson. Mrs. Polakoff claims that her husband is an anarchist and a Bolshevik. He retorts by charging her with being infatuated with one Ben Hayman, now said to be in Chicago, and infatuated letters to Mrs. Polakoff signed "Thy Ben."

Mr. Polakoff also stated yesterday it was Mrs. Polakoff that believed in free love. He said he met and loved her and asked her to marry.

"Foolish boy," was her reply. "Love is the only thing that counts. Love alone is binding; marriage is very foolish. It ties one. I love you. I will live with you, but if I married you I have no choice. The day I marry you that day I leave you."

They lived together four years. A child was born, and when the matter came to the attention of the District Attorney, the couple were married. Mrs. Polakoff left her husband. It is the child's future that is troubling the court, not to speak of the other elements in the case.

Attorney Gereht, counsel for Mrs. Polakoff, said he could prove that Mr. Polakoff is both an anarchist and a Bolshevik. The witness denied that he is other than a Socialist. He is represented by Attorney Warren Williams. The case will be finished today.

DISABILITY CASES.

"Disabled men are taken care of by the Federal office of vocational training. Men who have suffered a 10 per cent. disability, and this percentage is not always strictly followed, are allowed $75 per month by the government while learning a trade or vocation to which they can be fitted in spite of their disability. Further, if this disability makes itself evident within a year from the time of discharge, it will entitle the disabled one to the same consideration."

COMENSATION IS GIVEN BY THE BUREAU OF WAR RISK INSURANCE FOR DISABILITY.

This office will follow up all cases where the established organizations which should handle the above have not functioned properly, and investigate each instance brought to its attention, and see that justice is done in the premises.

opened that night in the canyon is a blank to him. The truth will come out. His mother stands by him. She believes that he is innocent of murdering Miss Lesser."

Howard Dixon, New's former employer, said yesterday that New came to work there about eight months ago, as an automobile truck driver, and his work was very satisfactory. Miss Lesser and New's half sister, Miss Clancy, worked in the office of the factory, which is at 1224 West Fifty-eighth street.

On account of the unusual interest being taken in the case of Harry S. New, Jr., whose preliminary hearing will take place Monday morning before Justice Hinchshaw, arrangements are being made to limit the number of spectators in the court room. No one will be allowed to stand outside the railing, and no one will be allowed inside the courtroom, and much other except attorneys, court officials and newspaper men. Those who manage to get seats will be admitted.

LOVE VICTIM NOW ASHES.

Crouching on a tumbled bed in her small home at 4409 Griffin avenue yesterday morning a little old woman, crippled and sick, sobbed as if her heart would break. In the darkened chapel of an undertaking establishment many blocks away a black-clothed Rabbi chanted the mournful death services of the Jewish faith over the dead body of a beautiful girl. Hundreds of friends and one or two relatives with bowed heads surrounded the black and silver coffin which was loaded down with thousands of sweet flowers.

The sobbing mother, the gathered friends and the Rabbi all were paying the last earthly tribute to Freda J. Lesser, 20 years old, murdered by the man who claimed she loved him better than anything else in the world. Within two hours of the simple services, which were held in the chapel of the Alvares and Blue undertaking establishment at 500 Court street, the fair body of Freda Lesser was turned over to the crematory at Rosedale Cemetery.

Rabbi S. Hecht of the First Fifth congregation conducted the funeral services. As he finished his remarks over the body of the girl he had known for over fourteen years his eyes filled with tears and he took his seat amid the sobs of scores of women, all friends of the dead girl, who remembered her only as a bright and laughing child.

At Rosedale Cemetery H. A. Wood, Max Kay, E. W. Fawcett, P. J. Schneider, C. H. Webb and A. M. Silver, all friends of the Lesser family, bore the body to the crematory and piled the hundreds of floral gifts upon the coffin.

And while the friends hurried away from the cemetery to their various businesses a little old woman, sick and crippled, tossed on her tumbled bed and cried for her daughter who a few days ago, with a laugh on her lips, left her home never to return.

Thousand Czechoslovak Soldiers Parading to Their Own Singing at Camp Kearny Yesterday.

CZECHS PARADE AND SING.

Camp Kearny's Commander is Complimented by Group from Exile Army.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, July 9.—More than 1000 Czechoslovak soldiers, who came to Camp Kearny for recuperation on their way to their homes in Bohemia, marched in review this morning on the camp parade grounds in compliment to Brig.-Gen. Frederick S. Strong, commander of Camp Kearny, and to the San Diego citizens who have extended them courtesies.

The marching of the troops in perfect unison and without music or even a drum, was most impressive. Gen. Strong and his commander, Maj. Vladimir Vysa, reviewed the troops from the reviewing stand and later inspected the troops. A number of maneuvers foreign to American armies were executed and the Czechs gave some of the maneuvers to the accompaniment of their own singing of national hymns. The rich tones of the Bohemian singing and the deep mellow and sonorous tones of their "Kdo Domov Mu" and "Hey Slavans" were most effective and unusual to Americans.

Many visitors went to Camp Kearny from San Diego for the review. The Czechoslovaks will probably leave the last of the week for Washington, where President Wilson will review them, and they will then sail for their home in Bohemia, from which most of them have not had any word for two years.

Last night at Camp Kearny the Czechs were entertained by girls of the War Camp Community service with a dance. The men proved to be as good dancers as they are fighters and soon learned the American one-step and fox-trot, though at first unfamiliar with these dances. They sang without accompaniment their songs of a lighter vein and sang in such perfect time that many began to dance to the music. With the democratic spirit that is characteristic of this volunteer army, Maj. Vysa stood in the midst of the group and led the songs.

SIX AUTOISTS HURT; ONE CHILD MAY DIE.

FRacture OF SKULL AND MANY CUTS RESULT FROM TWO ACCIDENTS.

Two automobile accidents resulting in injuries to six persons, one of whom may die, occurred late last night.

While driving south on Vermont avenue Ray Shelton of 3722 Flower street and John Claudino of 311 West Thirty-seventh street received serious injuries when their car collided with a truck driven by J. R. Foster of 1472 West Jefferson street, which was traveling east on Thirty-sixth street. Shelton and Claudino were treated at the Receiving Hospital for numerous lacerations of the face and hands.

Through a mistake in signals, the machines of Howard M. Baird of 158 North Avenue 26 and Leo D. Purcell of 2917 Fifth avenue met in a head-on collision at Sixth and Figueroa streets. In the Baird machine were four children, all of whom were cut by glass from the windshield. Howard M. Baird, Jr., 4 years old, has a fracture of the skull, while Walter B. Baird, 4½ years old, has cuts on the face, which may disfigure him for life. Dr. Zopf of Receiving Hospital stated the skull fracture may prove fatal.

COUNTY LOSES TAX ON INTANGIBLE ASSETS.

The Westinghouse Electric Company, which paid $1000 taxes on its intangible assets and filed suit against the county to recover the amount, paid under protest, won the judgment in Judge Shenk's court yesterday. The company claims that its main office was not in Los Angeles, but in Pittsburgh. The decision of the court that the taxes must be refunded is based on that point.

Big Chain Store Coming; Former Governor Here: Bonds Feel H. C. of L.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

The Metropolitan 5 to 60 cent Chain Stores seek admission to the circle of Los Angeles mercantile life, and former Gov. Adolph O. Eberhart, of Minnesota, is their prophet.

There is more behind this simple announcement than appears on its face for it involves financing on a large scale, and the offering of several millions of dollars worth of stock on a profit sharing basis.

It means the ultimate expansion of a business which already ranks third in the United States in its class, having increased its sales 8 per cent in the last five months, to include every Pacific Coast city of importance, and the probable establishment of executive headquarters for this part of the country in Los Angeles.

Former Gov. Eberhart was in town yesterday making a general survey of the field, and while he admits the intention of the company is to establish one or more stores here, nothing but elementary preliminaries are being considered up to this trip of the executive, who, since he retired from office four years ago, has taken a prominent place in the financial world.

H. W. Dublase & Co., 1025 Van Nuys Building, are the fiscal agents of the Metropolitan and as soon as the corporation commission approves of the proposed increase of common stock from $1,000,000 to $20,000,000 the new issue will be offered locally at $50 per share. This stock is to be paying 5 per cent on a $100 par, and it is the intention to advance it to $65 at the next meeting of the board.

There are 7000 stockholders of the Metropolitan and the policy of the corporation is to surround each store with a series of local holders of securities, in fact a limit of $10,000 has been placed upon any individual holding.

Former Gov. Eberhart has some decided views upon profit sharing and co-partnership which he says is the correct way to fight radicalism and Bolshevism. "When a boy becomes an interested partner in the business, labor ceases to think in terms of destruction and begins to think in terms of constructive lines," is the way he puts it.

Before the United States entered the war former Gov. Eberhart toured the country with and for former President Taft in the interests of the League to Enforce Peace, and now he is an earnest advocate of the League of Nations, which he declares, "is not a partisan matter, but holds the secret of the world."

He protects the smaller and weaker nations, and should be promptly ratified. Such modifications as are necessary may be readily made later, but should be absolutely essential to the peace of the world that the League of Nations become a working reality at the very earliest possible date.

Mr. Eberhart is constantly going about the country and is a keen observer. He declares that general conditions are good, and that labor is quite fully employed. He finds no note of pessimism except in some quarters because of radical tendencies and the high price level. This statement led to his assertion that labor must be made an interested partner in the affairs of business, and this tendency he says is more coming into realization, and was greatly aided by the widespread participation in government war loans.

He is heartily in sympathy with the plan which was given exposition in The Times news columns yesterday of taking immediate definite and positive steps to "clean up" Mexico, and add its agriculture and mineral treasures to the assets of this side of the world. He finds the Pacific Coast fully alive to the wonderful business possibilities which now confront them, and so able to look out for ourselves that the financial developments of the Central West and the East no longer occupied so much of our time and thought.

The headquarters of the Metropolitan company is in Buffalo, N. Y., and it is at present operating 114 stores throughout the East and Central West, the chain extending from New York to Salt Lake City. The former Governor, whose home is in St. Paul, leaves today to continue his tour of inspection and foundation building.

Growing Business.
Since Bond & Goodwin established offices in the Title Insurance Building about the first of the year they have been so busy handling commercial papers that the bond end of the business has not been pushed. Now, however, with the addition of M. Hugh Mackay to the local staff to look out for the commercial paper department the bond possibilities will be developed and several good offerings are projected for the near future. The development of this branch of a well-known house is said to have fully warranted the confidence of the firm in flying a shingle from Los Angeles.

Speaking of commercial paper there is a seasonal and normal contraction at the present time, especially in communities where the banks are called upon to finance crop movements. This is especially true in Orange county, where record
